YEARBOOK PLANS ABANDONED AFTER FAVORABLE VOTE

Publishers Cannot Put Out Yearbook; Not Enough Money.

LAST ISSUE IN 1929

Plans for a University Annual have been definitely abandoned, it was announced Wednesday by Woodrow Tietso and Howard Wilcox, co-editors of The Omahan.

There has been no issue of The Omahan, University yearbook, since 1929. Tietso and Wilcox drew up a plan and it was presented to the students at an open forum. The Student Council sponsored a poll and the students voted to have an Annual by a five to one vote. Only one out of every five students on the campus, however, voted.

Crenshaw Would Aid

"The publishers cannot put out a book with such a small student guarantee," said Tietso March 6. L. D. Crenshaw, bursar, was willing to co-operate with Tietso and Wilcox in the collection of the payments, but lacked the administration's sanction, according to Tietso.

Harris, Witman Speak On Trade

"A nation, such as the United States, possessing tremendous resources, should throw its weight into international trade," stated Professor Shepherd L. Witman, in an informal discussion of Roosevelt's foreign policy with Dr. Lyman G. Harris on the university radio program over WOW Monday, March 4.

The two faculty members touched upon isolation, international currency, reparations and war debts, and President Roosevelt's attitude to the present world economic situation in the course of their discussion.

Best Discusses Bad Medical Ads

"Catastrophies of Indigestion as Related to Modern Advertising," was discussed at the Pre-Medic club meeting by Dr. R. Russell Best, assistant professor of surgery and anatomy at the University of Nebraska College of Medicine, this morning at 10 o'clock, at Science Hall.

"Radio talks and periodicals are dangerous to the public," said Dr. Best. "This type of advertising, combined with the increasing mortality rate, is very harmful to the health of the community. It is impossible to advise individuals who are sick when the advertisers can't personally diagnose the trouble of each ailing patient."

Mary Charlotte McGonigle, '35, public school music senior, presented her piano pupils in a recital at her home-studio in Council Bluffs Monday, March 4.

Silent Students Scorn Study Rooms

Co-operative study rooms in Joslyn Hall, established after a semester of agitation on the part of those who resented the noise in the University library, provides room for approximately 350 serious students.

The University library, it is estimated, will accommodate 200.

But—

So far, not one student has been spotted in either room 20, 17, 6 or 3, the rooms assigned for co-operative studying, in the open hours.

"It seems the students who were clamoring for quiet are not making use of the rooms," said Dr. Edgar A. Holt.

The Gateway, in an agreeable mood, agrees with Dr. Holt. It does seem so.

Holt Discusses Fascist Forces

Mass Resentment Causes
Political Innovations, Says
Dean in Speech.

Dean Edgar A. Holt spoke before the Omaha branch of the Inter-Professional Institute Monday on "Current Political Trends," analyzing all existing forces which might unite for combined Fascist action.

"In the face of mass resentment growing out of modern social and economic conditions," said Dr. Holt, "governments all over the world have been forced to change radically their philosophy of social control."

As a basis for a solution of the problem, Dr. Holt advocated "neat balancing of social control of activities with a high regard for the dignity of the individual."

"This must be done," asserted the speaker, "or the individual will be destroyed by that emerging crop of demagogues who feed on social discontent and religious and racial hatreds."

The address was Dr. Holt's fourth lecture in three weeks.

Dr. S. Morgulis Is Chemistry Lecturer

Dr. Sergius Morgulis, head of the department of biochemistry at Nebraska Medical College, addressed the Chemistry Club March 1 on "Water in the Human System."

This is the fourth lecture in the symposium on water. "Dr. Morgulis delivered a very fine lecture," stated Miss Nell Ward, assistant professor of chemistry at the University.

65 APPLY FOR DEGREES

The Registrar's office has received sixty-five applications for degrees and certificates to be given at the close of this semester and at the close of the summer session. Mr. Helmstader, registrar, stated that those wishing degrees or certificates must apply before Friday evening, March 8.

HOW'RE WE DOIN'?

"Forget it," said President Woodrow Tietso of the Omaha University student council when Virginia Lee Long, sophomore representative, asked to introduce a plan for proportional representation in the council at a meeting Wednesday noon.

"I am working on a new form of a student council constitution," said Tietso, "and it will probably be ready in a month."

The plan sponsored by Miss Long was formulated by George Knipprath, Gateway news editor, who served as a substitute on the student council for one day.

Selection On Enrollment

Knipprath's plan provides for proportional representation of classes according to enrollment. There would be one representative for each fifty students and an additional representative for twenty-five or more students if the sur-

Fleet as the wind are we of The Gateway!

Neither snow nor sleet nor cold nor heat shall halt our endeavors to get all the campus news on time.

Therefore, to all those who so trustingly dropped news tips into The Gateway box in Joslyn Hall, we offer our humblest apologies for forgetting all about the box. It has not been opened for several months.

When cleaned out this week,
the box revealed eight news tips, one letter from a faculty member asking "Why doesn't library notices, dropped in by someone who mistook our box for one of Uncle Sam's.

News tips will now receive

New Publication, 'Boot Straps', Out

Student Publications Board
Says Copies Unauthorized;
Violation of Regulations.

"Boot Straps," an eight-page mimeographed magazine, made its initial appearance on the Omaha University campus Monday morning, edited and distributed by people unknown.

Excerpts from the writings of Everett Dean Martin, Charles Beard, Turgenev, and Bertrand Russell composed the bulk of the eight pages, augmented by quotes from the leading college humorous publications.

Violate School Regulation

Distribution was probably made early Monday morning, and copies of "Boot Straps" were found in the class rooms, on the desks and tables.

Dr. W. H. Thompson, dean of men, would not comment upon possible punishment for the editors, if found. The distribution of the magazine violates a school regulation prohibiting the distribution of any publication not authorized by the Board of Student Publications.

Dr. V. Royce West, chairman of the board, told The Gateway Tuesday that the editors were unknown to him.

U. of O. Teachers Give Art Lecture

Miss Angela Wagner, art department assistant, and Miss Elizabeth Kaho, music instructor, were in charge of a program on "Form in Music and Painting" at the Joslyn Memorial on Sunday, March 3. Elementary forms were discussed.

Miss Wagner and Miss Kaho will give a second program at the Memorial on March 31, on the romantic forms in music and painting.

E. M. Hosman, extension director, spoke to the Sigma Pi Phi educational fraternity, Wednesday, March 6. His subject was the "Application for Teaching." Refreshments were served.

INNOVATIONS ARE OFFERED TO MAKE MAIE A SUCCESS

Show, Dance and Free
Transportation, Are Committee Plans.

PLEASE SORENSEN

Startling innovations are in store for Omaha University students if the newly selected Maie Day committee, headed by Howard Sorenson, '35, will be able to accomplish several plans formulated at the committee's first meeting on Wednesday afternoon.

The committee discussed plans for a show and a dance, both to be given the same evening, at a reasonable rate to the students. A show will be selected in the very near future, according to Chairman Sorenson.

"All University groups, Bars, Greeks, and 'Indifferent' students, will be given the opportunity to participate in this show," said Sorenson. "The present committee will do its utmost to keep the Maie Day festival from becoming another Greek-Barb fiasco."

Another change proposed by the committee was free bus transportation.

Ed. Dept. Using Panel Discussion

Panel discussion procedure has been adopted by the Education and Democracy class of Prof. Irwin A. Hammer, head of the education department.

The class of eight members has been divided into two panels, one member of which acts as chairman.

"The work has been divided into units containing a number of problems. With specific objectives in view the panels alternately discuss the problems, and the class members are free to contribute their views," explained Mr. Hammer.

This is the first attempt that has been made to use this method in the education department.

University Radio Program Monday

A fifteen minute informal discussion of "Social Insurance" will be given by Dr. Claude W. Stinson, head of the Economics department, and Dr. Edgar A. Holt, dean of the arts and science college, over radio station W.O.W. Monday evening at 6 P. M.

The speakers will discuss social insurance plans in effect at the present time, and will explain the difficulties, dangers, and benefits of such insurance.

NEED FOR NEW BUILDINGS

DESPITE the urgent need of Omaha University for new buildings and the need for the employment the project would furnish Omaha laborers, the proposed one million dollar Omaha University building program is apparently at a standstill.

Municipal University students regret that the building program is meeting with so little progress, for they, above all others, realize the inadequacy of the present quarters of the University. Joslyn Hall was built in 1916 to provide for the needs of 200 students. Today nearly 800 students are enrolled at the University. Ten years ago the Science Hall was condemned as unsafe and as a firetrap. No improvements have been made on the buildings since this time. The University library is composed of two wooden annexes which present a perfect firetrap, besides being inadequate quarters for a University library.

With favorable action on the University building program these conditions could be remedied and Omaha would be assured a university that would meet the needs of 3,000 or 4,000 students, that would provide training facilities for its public school teachers, and would make Omaha a real center of higher education and professional training. For these reasons Omaha University students fervently hope that in the near future positive action will be taken on the proposed new buildings so that Omaha can be assured of a University of which it may well be proud.

STUDENT COUNCIL MENTALITY

THAT the Omaha University Student Council is not performing its functions in a satisfactory manner is apparent to everyone on the campus with the exception of several Council members. It is obvious that some change in the manner of selecting Council members is needed.

George Knipprath, '36, became interested in the matter and drew up an amendment to the Council constitution which he believed would alleviate the present unsatisfactory conditions. At Wednesday's Council meeting Miss Virginia Lee Long, a Council member, asked permission to introduce Knipprath's amendment.

Woodrow Tietso, president of the Student Council, responded with the admonition "to forget it as I am working on a plan." This attitude, as expressed by the Council president, typifies the spirit with which the Council attacks its problems and goes a long way to explain the recent childish actions in the Council.

We hold no brief for Knipprath's proportional representation plan. It may be worth while or it may not. It does, however, seem to us that the Student Council could, at least, discuss the matter, for something worth while might result. A drastic change is needed in the manner of electing Council members. The Student Council, as it stands at present, is not looked up to by the mass of students for leadership. For this situation the Council can thank itself. The actions of the Council Wednesday show that the members have not profited from their difficulties in selecting the Gala Day chairman.

Book Review

Ever alive to the literary needs of our dear public, The Gateway herein presents our first (and we hope our last) review of outstanding works in the current literary world. The Gateway has never before printed a review, the reviewer has never before reviewed a book, and the reader has never before read anything like this. Let's all start together.—The Editor.

MISS RIGG OF THE CABBAGE PATCH

Reviewed by Your Fran Nelson

Ah, dear readers, it has been many years since I last had the opportunity to review a story of such alluring beauty and sweetness. The tenderness and delicacy with which the author handles the tale is somewhat suggestive of dear, sweet Louisa M. Alcott.

For all this the story is crammed from cover to cover with action and thrills. The reader's attention is quickly gained and held throughout the book. The story has everything, including a haughty villain, whose cohorts are mere cogs in a great and evil political machine which seeks to drain the life blood of the happy community to the very dregs.

These unprincipled politicians had planned to disguise themselves as Indians and scalp all the people in the midst of a gala celebration which this happy community held every year.

Our heroine, a modern Joan of Arc, discovers the plan and lashes a faithful band of Amazons into action. With them at her back she rides on into the Valley of Tradition, where she encounters the enemy and emerges victorious after a skirmish. Followed by her faithful band, she marches on to greater glory in her efforts to free the barbarians from the power of mighty Athens, stronghold of the Greeks.

But as all great martyrs, our heroine meets her downfall and is betrayed by the very tribes she freed.

There are many bits of poetry woven into the story in an effective and entertaining manner. In closing, I wish to quote a bit of this poetry which strikes me as very entertaining. (Ed. Note: It's about time something struck you.)

Little Miss Rigg sat on a tuft,
Keeping the Thetas away.
But they stuck in their thumb,
Pulled out the plum,
And the Sig Chis all ran away.

Thru The Keyhole

Congratulations to the splendid performance of Pat, Wink and Curt last Saturday night... too bad they won't be here next year, but then the freshmen under Dee look plenty good... Imagine Vogel and Christensen together at the Phi Sig tonite... Tiny Ryan has a date with Francine Morris, which should surprise Moucka... Looks like Charlotte Fisher and Tietso are seeing too much of each other lately.

In case you have noticed the forlorn look on Christine Nall's face it is because her worry over Carson has increased considerably in the last couple of weeks... Seems as though some gal by the name of Slayton has been entertaining Rogers quite a bit lately.

Steincamp really is original... she tosses graham crackers with "I Love You" written on them at Cliff Anderson... When Fitch says she is going steady I guess she really means it... Lacy has been seeing her all day and half the night lately... Challen announces she is going to the dance tonight with her new boy friend, so be careful everybody... By the way, I know of a couple of guys who are going to be "all through" with a certain girl if she don't pick better company... nuff sed.

I LOATHE:

Officials at the Wednesday night basketball game... Girls that don't read the right hand column of the menu... The lad with the jitters who goes into complete detail as to how he got them...

Tweeps that throw their candy wrappers and returned papers in the halls... Lip grease that comes off... Lunch debris on the new furniture in the men's lounge... A blowout on the way to a dance, and no spare... Bid traders who Welsh on the trades... A certain frat for hiring an out of town orchestra... Indescribables who use the trite phrase "Say now" ouch... Student council procrastinations... New taxes on autos and gas... Orgy of children's hours on the radio... Haughtiness of several unmentionables who have nothing to be pipped about.

CRAZY QUIBS:

Oh what a funny bird the frog are, when he hop he fly almost, when he fly he hop almost sort of as if like he sit down almost. Oh what a funny bird the frog are.

Research Assistant Delving Into Old World-Herald Files Learns Of 1875 Effort to Create Uni.

Digging into old files of the Omaha World-Herald, Verne Parrish, '36, research assistant to Dr. Edgar A. Holt, last week learned of an attempt made in 1875 to set up an institution of higher learning to be known as the University of Omaha.

Plans for the proposed university were first advanced by Bishop Haven of the Methodist church and were greeted favorably by Omaha business men. George W. Frost, Herman Kountze, James E. Boyd, John J. Redick, and General Manderson were among local civic leaders who aided Bishop Haven.

The Omaha Daily Herald, a forerunner of today's World-Herald, endorsed the project with the following comment: "Omaha is now given an opportunity to do itself and the cause of education a great and lasting good."

Plans for the university failed to materialize when Omahans interested in the proposal could not meet the Methodist church's demand for the grant of a 300-acre campus tract and a 25 thousand dollar endowment.

plus is less than fifty. The Barb and Greek elements in the University would be represented accordingly.

"The Greeks and Barbs are now working in perfect harmony, and this plan of proportional representation would set up two factions in the student council," stated Tietso in explaining his action in ignoring the proposed amendment.

"A Dirty Imposition"

Knipprath, in a statement made immediately after council meeting, at which he was present, said Tietso's action was "a dirty imposition."

"Who gave Tietso the power to shelve my amendment?" Knipprath demanded. "It was to be introduced by a council member, thereby fulfilling the constitutional requirements for new amendments. The council should have been permitted to decide upon it."

"We really need some kind of representation," Knipprath continued. "We now have only a dictatorship."

Indian Plan Accepted

The council voted to accept the Indian tradition plan written by Virginia Lee Long and Martin K. Speckter, pending revision.

Plans for the censoring of the Maie Day show were discussed. It was decided that the Maie committee, selected by the council after two weeks' deliberation, will have a free hand in the organization of Maie Day. The committee, however, will be expected to submit an accurate, itemized account of expenditures.

with flashes of humor, and sparkling phrases, keeps his students mentally alert.

Dr. Payne has written two books. The first, Problems in Logic, appeared in 1926. New Problems in Logic was published in 1929. He has contributed innumerable articles to magazines and journals concerning contemporary problems, and made countless speeches at banquets.

Canoeing and swimming, in the order named, are the chief recreations of Dr. Payne. Widely diverse subjects interest Dr. Payne, such as theoretical physics, domestic architecture, construction of pipe organs, the novel and drama. "The only important thing, according to Dr. Payne, is human actions, as all troubles are traceable to conflicts of personalities. The wise man is the one who is able to judge and study people."

GRIDDER AWAITS GOOD WEATHER TO OPEN EARLY DRILL

Card Footballers To Start Spring Work Monday if Field O.K.

FACE STIFF FOES

By MARTIN OELRICH

Spring football practice will get under way, weather permitting, Monday, March 11, Sed Hartman, head football coach, announced Monday.

Facing a suicide schedule next fall, which includes four powerful North Central foes and all the N. I. A. A. elevens, Hartman is looking forward to a large turnout for the spring drills.

Back Reserve Strength

Coach Hartman said that while the spring workout was primarily for the benefit of the newer men, he is considering holding formal drills and scrimmages, which would augment those of the fall, if sufficient interest was evidenced by the men to warrant the undertaking.

The loss of Hender, King, and Francis, who have dropped out of school, and the eligibility bugaboo are causing Cardinal followers no end of worry over the probabilities of sufficient reserve strength to carry through the season.

Play North Dakota Here

Of last season's lettermen, Hummel, Hoover, and James will be lost by graduation and it is doubtful if Don Minikus, end, will return.

Lettermen likely to form the nucleus of next year's team are: Backs: Brown, Loder, Nelson, Peary, Turner, Tyler, and Anderson. Linemen: Elliot, N. Sorenson, H. Sorenson, Gardner, Gammon, Crawford, and Johnk. Promising freshmen and reserves include: Adams, Boldenow, Donion, Frink, Sritchoff, Oelrich, Riggins, and Wagner. The schedule:

Saturday, Sept. 21—Morningside, Herd.
Saturday, Sept. 28—Ottawa, There.
Saturday, Oct. 5—South Dakota State (tentative). There.
Friday, Oct. 11—Kearney, There.
Friday, Oct. 18—Wayne, There.
Friday, Oct. 25—Peru, Here.
Saturday, Nov. 2—South Dakota, There.
Saturday, Nov. 9—Open.
Saturday, Nov. 10—North Dakota, Herd.
Saturday, Nov. 23—Chadron, Here.

Wrestlers Won't Tangle With N.U.

Howard Sorenson, wrestling mentor, announced this week that the tentative arrangements for a dual meet with Nebraska university had fallen through. Inability of the two schools to agree on a satisfactory date has been given as the reason.

Omaha has been handicapped in the development of this sport because the N.I.A.A. has made no provisions for the promotion of wrestling among the member schools, but with Omaha's entry into the North Central conference, added interest should be created because the members of this conference have maintained wrestling squads for a number of years.

Next year should see a full-fledged schedule of meets for the squad, Coach Sorenson said.

The W. A. A. will banquet Wednesday, March 13, at a local tea room. Miss Gladys Shamp, educational director of the Community Chest, will be the principal speaker.

Recognition will be given for the participating teams in the women's basketball tourney.

Two Phi Sig's Join Theta Quint

Only the sudden remembrance of that old adage about "the Greeks bearing gifts" saved two upset Phi Sig basketeers from becoming the laughing stock of the university.

In the Theta-Phi Sig court battle Wednesday afternoon, Paul Ward shot a pass to Edgar Howe, who dribbled to the opposite basket and shot, but missed. Then Ward took a shot and missed. The two Phi Sig's noticed then that the Theta's were in nowise attempting to spoil their aim. This was surprising, and looking about them, the two "stars" realized that they had almost contributed two points to the Theta cause.

They both found a crack in the gym floor and sunk through.

FROSH VICTORIOUS OVER ERAS QUINT IN FINAL CONTEST

Coach Thompson's Yearling basketball team turned back a last minute rally of the Eras Club of the Y. M. C. A. league to win 24-21 in a preliminary to the Omaha-Iowa Teachers' game Saturday night.

After trailing the sharp-shooting Eras the first half, the Freshmen came back early in the second to take the lead as Royce Brown dribbled in to shoot at close range and go on an eight-point scoring spree.

Brown, Bolte Head Frosh
Stave, Eras forward, knotted the score at twenty-one all with but a minute to go. Krauth tossed in a free throw and McGowan's fielder put the game in the bag. Stave's and Wiedenbeck's last minute heaves went wild in last minute efforts to tie up the score. Brown, fouled as the gun sounded, failed to cash in on either of the two free throw attempts.

Sullivan, diminutive Eras guard, dropped in three buckets from long range to steal the show for the Eras, while Brown and Bolte took over the scoring burden for the Freshmen.

The box score:

Theta's Defeat Phi Sig Quint

The Theta's, led by whirlwind Benny Johnson, snowed the Phi Sig's under by a 33 to 19 count in the second game of the Intramural basketball tournament Wednesday afternoon.

With Rogers, center, controlling the tip, the Theta's got away to an early lead and were never headed. Huff, Sig ace, failed to hit the hoop the first half, and when he finally did get the range it was too late to melt the Ryan-Johnson avalanche, which garnered a total of 20 points.

Starred for Losers in Final

MAURICE CARR—FORWARD

"One of the smoothest players ever to appear here," was the unanimous verdict of fans who saw

FRANCIS BROUWER—GUARD-CENTER

this fresh lead the Iowa State Teachers in Omaha's final game last Saturday.

Carr received capable support from Francis Brouwer, but it was not enough to overcome the Cardinals' attack. The Cardinals romped off with a 43-to-22 victory, Patterson, Wilkinson and Curtis scoring 42 points in their final appearance in Omaha uniforms.

Curtis Garners Scoring Honors With 167 Points

By scoring 11 points against the Iowa Tutors in the last game of the season, Captain Lowell Curtis boosted his total to 167 points, to take the individual scoring honors for the second straight year. Curtis has an average of 12 points per game.

Patterson overtook Wilkinson to land in second position with a total of 140 tallies. "Pat" took scoring honors with 19 points in the final game last Saturday to set an individual scoring record for the season. The best Wilkinson could get was 11 points and a season's total of 136. The average in 14 games for Patterson is 10 points, and for Wilkinson, 9 tallies.

Four Players Graduate

The two remaining members of the starting quintet were far behind in scoring totals, but their defensive ability made up the difference. Baade scored 65 points, while Johnk totaled 24. Nelson, Pearey, Brown and Kozak followed in the order named.

The "Iowa Trio" will be seen no more in the scarlet and black, but the remaining members of the squad, with the exception of Brown, will be back next season against the North Central Leaguers.

Season's scoring:

	Games	Points
Curtis	14	167
Patterson	14	140
Wilkinson	14	136
Baade	14	65
Johnk	14	24
Nelson	13	21
Pearey	10	7
Brown	9	6
Kozak	4	1

Senior Quint Plays Undergrad Team

A senior basketball team led by Curtis, Wilkinson, and Patterson will battle an underclass basketball quint this afternoon at 4, in the gym. The famous "Iowa Trio" will have Hummel, Bob Brown, Hoover, and alumni to fill in the remaining positions. The underclassmen will count upon Baade, Johnk, Nelson, Pearey, Kozak, members of the varsity, and also upon the freshman team.

Cards Close Year By Beating Iowa

"Big Three" Shine as Cagers Defeat Tutors by 42 to 23; Score All But Single Point.

Dear Sed:

I just couldn't stay away from the game last Saturday. It marked the final appearance of the original "Iowa Trio," and I had to get a last glimpse of those three kids who brought three N. I. A. titles within four years to my alma mater.

They really gave their all in the Omaha win over the Iowa State Teachers' quintet. You know, Sed, they scored 41 of the 42 points and held the Tutors to 23 points. What are we going to do without them next year in the North Central League?

"Pat" Scores 19 Points

It did look sort of depressing for the Omahans at the start of the game. But then "Pat" got started and when the half ended he had scored 17 points and put the Cards ahead 23 to 13. It was his night, Sed, and he gave a swell exhibition of shot-making, didn't he? His total in the first half and the two points scored in the last half gave "Pat" a record scoring for one game.

Curtis and Wilkinson lent splendid support to Patterson and with their 11 points apiece showed the crowd that the title of "The Big Three" is not a misnomer. The work of Carr, Tutor forward, who scored 12 points, was a great performance. He was a smart, capable player and gave the Omahans many anxious moments.

Well, Sed, I'll finish now by congratulating you for your most successful season and wish you many more.

Greeks Close Formal Season

Omaha university Greek organizations will present two affairs this month as they close their formal dance season.

Phi Sigma Phi fraternity's first annual "Sweetheart Swing" dance will start tonight at 9:30 at the Chermot ballroom with Franklin Vincent's orchestra. Dates of the Phi Sig actives will receive silver bracelets.

John Vogel, '37, is chairman of the dance committee, assisted by Robert Race, '35, Bill Nelson, '36, Paul Brawner, '36, and Milton Sklenka, '37.

The first of a series of lectures entitled "How To Read the Newspaper Today" was presented by Dr. V. Royce West, instructor in newspaper practice, at the Y. W. C. A. Thursday evening. Remaining lectures of the series will be given Thursday evenings at the Y. W. C. A.

kel, '38, were initiated, and Harold Kort, '36, was installed as secretary. Joe Greenstone, '35, president, presided and spoke for the actives.

Have We Found the Missing Link?

By George Knipprath

A close inspection of the men's lounge reveals little difference in appearance from the monkey room in a zoo. The occupants of the lounge exhibit many of the same characteristics for which primates are noted. When monkeys tire of anything that has caught their passing fancy they drop it at the earliest opportunity, so do the students after they are through with their returned papers.

Monkeys are notoriously unclean eaters, leaving bits of food wrappings all over their surroundings; likewise the students who eat their lunches in the lounge. The "put and take" boys at the zoo clean up the monkey cage once a day, and the lounge is also cleaned daily. Those in favor of renaming the men's lounge more appropriately "The Monkey Cage" signify by continuing their present behavior.

Sue Hall, '37, entertained friends at bridge last Friday night.

Omaha Hosts To Gym Instructors

The Women's Physical Education Department of Omaha University is making preparations for the Second Annual Convention of the Central District of the American Physical Education Association to be held in Omaha March 20, 21, 22, and 23. Headquarters will be at a local hotel.

All physical educators in Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wyoming have been invited to attend.

The girls, under Miss Diamond's direction, will give a Dance Symposium March 21 at the Fontenelle at the Dancing Sectional Meeting. Orchesis will present the Rhapsody in Blue at the Coliseum in the demonstration to be held March 22.

I am your best friend

You always find me welcome because I'm always the same—mild, mellow, fine-flavored. You can be sure of my friendliness to throat and taste because I am made of center leaves only. Those small, sticky top leaves are sharp and bitter. Sand and grit destroy the flavor of the bottom leaves. But the choice center leaves grow to mellow ripeness, preserving every bit of fragrant tobacco flavor. I am made from these fragrant, expensive center leaves. They give me the right to sign myself "Your best friend".

Students Give "Each His Own"

Students of the dramatic department presented a one-act play, "Each His Own," at the Omaha Women's Press club annual dinner Tuesday, March 5, at a local hotel. The play was written by Maude Sumner Smith, a member of the Press club.

Sylvan Frankel, '38, played the leading role. He was supported by Norman Wohlner, '36, Marva Cohn, '38; and Pearl Lazarus, '38.

Kappa's Create Literary Group

Kappa Psi Delta has organized a literary group within the sorority for the benefit of those interested in creative writing, constructive criticism of their work, reading, and discussion. Frances Robertson, '36, was appointed leader of the group and Mrs. Leslie F. Johnson, sponsor of the sorority, will serve as critic.

Ma-ie Committee Tries Innovations

Ma-ie Princess, Chief

Martin Speckter, sophomore representative, suggested the election of a Ma-ie princess and chief, to supplant the present Gala Day queen. The committee voted in favor of this proposal. Speckter and Virginia Lee Long, whose Indian plan was adopted by the student council, pending revisions, are to be in charge of the Indian ceremonies attached to Ma-ie Day, it was announced.

Other assignments made Wednesday are:

Ethel Jane Scanlon, senior representative, dancing arrangements; Kenneth Turner, athletic events; and Wade Knapp, freshman representative, ticket organization.

Work Pleasant, Say Members

"It's very gratifying to work with a group which so definitely intends to work for the good of the school," said Sorensen at the conclusion of the meeting.

Turner, who has served on a previous Gala Day committee, declared, "It was the finest Gala Day meeting I have ever attended."

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, March 13, at 2 o'clock.

Abandon Plans For Year Book

"It is deplorable that a school the size of the University of Omaha cannot issue a yearbook. However, I hope that the few loyal students who have courageously backed us will feel that we are justified in dropping the plan," stated Tietsort.

NINE IN D. A. R. CONTEST

Interest in the annual D. A. R. American History Contest is increasing weekly, according to Dr. Edgar H. Holt, professor of history.

Thus far nine persons have expressed intention of entering the competition. These figures represent only the results of a poll taken in one history class, and should be greatly increased when a complete poll can be secured from all classes, Holt said.

Women Debaters Will Meet Peru

The Omaha University's women's debate team will meet the Peru State Teachers' College men's squad Tuesday, March 12, in two non-decision debates.

Wednesday, March 13, the team will encounter the Pacific University team of Forest Grove, Ore., in a decision debate.

The University team is comprised of Bernice Perlmetter, '36, and Josephine Carroll, '36.

The question for debate is: "Resolved, that nations should agree to prevent the international shipment of arms and munitions."

Bungy Gordon, ex-'33, is educational advisor at the Indianola, Ia., CCC Camp.

Holt Talks On Social Insurance

Dr. Edgar A. Holt, dean of the University, spoke before a meeting of the Professional and Business Women's Club Tuesday evening on "Social Insurance."

"The real problem at present is to determine the variety of social insurance which is acceptable politically and valid on the basis of hard, cold facts," stated Dr. Holt.

Professor Holt explained the social insurance plans before the public now, particularly the Wisconsin and Ohio plans, which have gained general acceptance.

"Until the depression social insurance has been regarded with suspicion and dislike in the United States. To some who support it now it is regarded as a panacea for all our ills," Dr. Holt declared.
